

Business Buzz

Tell us about your business! Send us your news!
We'd like to tell others about you and your business.

The Daily Courier publishes business news on Sundays in a column written by Jules Rogers.

We would like to know about such things as new businesses, new locations and major expansions. We'd like to hear about employee promotions, new hires in management and industry awards, too. Maybe you have significant new products and services, or other news you think is important.

Please feel free to fill out the form below, send us an e-mail or call. Give us enough detail to make things interesting, but note that space is limited.
